

THE DEREK AND ROMAINE SHOW
SIRIUS SATELLITE RADIO, CHANNEL 106
Monday through Friday, 6pm -10pm ET

TIME Magazine declared it “edgy programming...which would be fined out of existence if the FCC had its way,” while the Windy City Times hailed it as “a searing, controversial yet highly entertaining gay talk-fest.”

Derek and Romaine is a popular evening drive time talk show on Sirius Satellite Radio. This sex, relationship and pop culture show is hosted by Derek Hartley and Romaine Patterson, and features a wide array of sex experts, celebrities, and real people sharing their personal experiences. Filled with free-form chatter, candid and frank discussions and tons of laughs, the Derek and Romaine Show is a unique radio experience featuring an unlikely gay/lesbian duo.

Prior to the launch of Derek and Romaine, co-host Derek Hartley had been a syndicated columnist for nearly a decade. His widely-read columns have appeared online and in print across the U.S. and around the world. His popular relationship column, FantasyMan Island, has appeared weekly on PlanetOut.com since March 1997.

Sudden fame surrounded co-host Romaine Patterson following the death of her friend Matthew Shepard in 1998. Her real-life appearance as an angel to counter-protest Fred Phelps became central to the “The Laramie Project” and is featured in her recent autobiography “The Whole World Was Watching” (Advocate Books, October 2005).

ECHO Magazine says “Warning: Listening to the Derek and Romaine show on SIRIUS Satellite Radio's OutQ Channel can be as addicting as crack... It's the kind of show that hooks you within five minutes and makes you feel like you're part of the family after 10.”

Sirius Satellite Radio programming is heard by nearly four million subscribers coast-to-coast across the United States through Sirius-enabled satellite radio receivers.
